

You've got a lot on your mind.

Work. Kids. World peace.

So why should you worry about having a comprehensive Responsible Bidder Ordinance? Because when an unqualified, unsafe contractor builds a school, library or other tax-funded public works project in your community, your tax dollars pick up the tab when things go wrong. Cost overruns, re-do's or on-the-job injuries can add up over time.

Protect your future tax dollars today. Talk to your local elected officials about passing a comprehensive Responsible Bidder Ordinance to make sure public works projects go to the safest, most responsible company in the first place.
